How do you become a driving instructor?

To work as a driving instructor in Ireland you must be on the RSA's Register of Approved Driving Instructors (ADI).

How do you become an ADI?

To become an ADI, you must satisfy the Registrar that you are a person of good character. You must be tax compliant, hold a full licence for the category in which you wish to give instruction for at least two years and go through a garda vetting process. Then you must go through a three stage RSA qualification process or show that your existing qualifications meet the ADI standard.

What is the three stage RSA qualification process?

There are three stages to the ADI exam:

The Theory Test (Stage 1)

The Practical Driving Test (Stage 2)

The Instructional Ability Test (Stage 3)

How do you get onto the ADI Register?

Once you pass all three stages or are approved following assessment of your existing qualifications, you can apply to enter onto the Register.

What does it all cost?

The RSA charge a fee for each phase of the application process. The current fees applicable are included below:

Stage 1 Theory Test	€150
Stage 2 Driving Test	€200 (per test)
Stage 3 Instructional Ability Test	€200
Registration Fee (Initial & Every 2 Years)	€250
Check Test (Every 2 years)	Free
Study Material	€200 approx.

"I was looking for a person, who could inspire, challenge and support me on my new journey to becoming a qualified driving instructor. I found a fantastic teacher, experienced coach and a warm person in Colm Branigan. Colm didn't put me into a "ready to use" plan, or box me into a universal learning style that fits all. Not at all - he let me think in my way, at my pace, giving me plenty of time and options to choose from. He was very professional, calm, relaxed and detailed. His coaching style fitted my learning style perfectly. That's not all! Colm also trained me to become an advanced driver. I passed my first ROSPA advanced driving test at GOLD standard. Then, thanks to Colm's support I became a ROSPA Advanced Driving Instructor and one year later a Riding Instructor. It was a good few years ago when I made the right phone call to the right person, who perfectly fulfilled my needs and expectations. Now years later, I can still remember our conversations. He supported me in my learning process from the very first minute we met. Now I am working as a driving instructor helping other drivers to fulfil their dreams. I would recommend Colm Branigan to anyone who is looking for a professional, experienced and calm teacher and coach. If you are planning to become an ADI, there is no better person to ring and meet than Colm Branigan."

Rafal Rybacki, Approved Driving Instructor No. 37948, Artane, Dublin 5.

"When studying for my approved driving instructor (ADI) licence, I saw Colm's advertisement for ADI instructor training and gave him a call. I'm glad I did, because he helped me greatly to pass the tests. Having had other trainers before, I found his approach easy and non-judgmental. Colm uses the more progressive coaching method, rather than the more conventional instructor approach. This entails for instance, using questions to guide and steer the learner towards the right answers and conclusions. His style is relaxed, and his listening skills are extremely well developed. Colm is one of the highest qualified driving instructors and trainers in the country and it shows in his performance and results. His rates are very competitive, and his success rates means he will save you money in the long term, but most importantly, ensure you have a long safe driving training career."

John Deering, Approved Driving Instructor No. 38112, Ballyfermot, Dublin 10.

"Upon deciding to become a Driving Instructor, I simply googled the process and every time Colm Branigan's name came up top of Google listings. I immediately thought, this man is a professional and knows what he is doing. I emailed him, and he replied within the hour offering to meet for a chat, which in turn led to my training with him. Colm is the ultimate professional, he has a very calm and methodical way of teaching. His approach is a coaching style of training and delivered in a manner which allows interaction and very useful feedback. He was very supportive, encouraging and positive during my training and always ready and available to answer any questions or queries I had. He always explained everything clearly and thoroughly and has an incredible knowledge of the driving profession which he imparts in an easy to understand method of teaching. I would highly recommend him to anyone looking to become a driving Instructor or anyone looking for driving lessons. I qualified as an ADI with 93% result and have not looked back since all thanks to Colm's exceptional training."

Samantha King, Approved Driving Instructor No. 39521, Dun Laoghaire, Co. Dublin.

"I would just like to thank you for your help with my ADI training. I was really prepared for the tests after your lessons. The only problem I have is thinking about all the money I wasted with one of your competitors. I will recommend you to anyone I know who is becoming an ADI. I will give you a call when my check test is coming up for a refresher lesson."

Des Ward, Approved Driving Instructor No. 37417, Naas, Co. Kildare.
